Volunteers Attend CA Workshop

Local American Cancer Society volunteers recently attended an Education Workshop presented by the Los Angeles County Branch of the Society.

Area volunteers attending the workshop were: Mrs. P.B. Marsh, Centineia-South Bay District General Chairman for the Society; Mrs. Arthur Colgan, District Residential Crusade chairman; Mrs. William Bennett, District chairman of Office Volunteers, and C. E. Shackelford, a lay speaker for the local district of the society.

Mrs. Rosalie Stapleton of Hollywood Riviera, Los Angeles County Education chairman planned and coordinated the workshop, which was held at the Parkview Women's Club in Los Angeles.

Feature of the session was a teenage panel of South Torrance High school students, who discussed the growing problem of teenage smoking.

Due to the increased incidence of teenage smoking, the local branch of the society has decided to devote a great deal of its educational activities towards educating the youth of the area about the dangers involved in smoking. The theme of the campaign will be: "Target: Youth."

Mrs. R. L. Brown, president of the Los Angeles County Board of Directors for the Society greeted the volunteers and Tommy Thompson, ACS Board member told the group the Society's reason for not participating in the United Way campaign.

Mr. Thompson reported that the American Cancer Society would have to forego too many vital functions, such as its educational and service programs if it were to become affiliated with the United Way.

Did you know the people at 17400 Hawthorne are worth 600 million dollars?

It's true.

But having all those assets behind them doesn't make the people at Great Western Savings uppity.

On the contrary, they're down-to-earth, neighborly people.

And this neighborly way of doing business is what makes Great Western great.

Each of the eight offices operates independently. Each operates, first and foremost, for the community in which it is located.

The Great Western Savings office here, for instance, is exclusively concerned with the progress, the problems and the people of the community.

The people who work here at Great Western Savings take an active part in this community's civic affairs. They live here and belong to local organizations. They know what makes this community "tick."

And they know many of the people who live here by their first names.

This kind of good-neighbor policy enables them to serve you better.

So, the next time you're in the neighborhood, drop in and meet the people who hang their hat at Great Western Savings.
